Artist Statement

Born and raised in Sweden, I now live by the Mississippi River in Minneapolis. My life has always been an exploration of artistic voice. Whether taking the form of a picture book, painting, or sculpture, my artwork is a means of communication, a kind of storytelling.

My images reflect a love of nature and a devotion to the voice of my individual soul journey. I create because I must, and because I want to bring the beholder to a place full of mystery, a poetic space that fuels the heart.

In my creations, I reach for a universal language with roots into the archetypal and ancient, a language deeper than my Swedish roots. Like an archeologist, I dig for relics of belonging, images that speak to the core of human emotion.
